

Invasive Plant Control Workshop – From Theory to Practice

Tuesday, June 12, 2018

8:30 am – 3:30 pm (registration opens at 8:00 am)

Valley Laboratory
The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station
153 Cook Hill Road, Windsor, CT

Experts from The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station will present up-to-date information on impacts of invasive species and alternative methods for their control during the morning, followed by practical field demonstrations in the afternoon. Learn the importance of early treatment to minimize infestations and how to take the first step in restoring native ecosystems.

Instructors: Drs. Jatinder Aulakh, Carole Cheah, James LaMondia (Valley Laboratory),
Drs. Jeffrey Ward, Scott Williams (Forestry and Horticulture)
